MOKI

Who are we?

Moki provides mobile device management (MDM) for company-owned, single-purposed, customer-facing iOS, Android, and BrightSign devices. Moki was specifically built to manage fleets of devices quickly and easily. Effortlessly install, update, or delete applications and profiles, without end-user interaction. Full remote control, true app lock, custom alerting, no-touch deployments, event scheduling, SDK and API integrations and more, make managing all of your dedicated devices a breeze.

Who is this program for?

We designed this program for any size business that provides Android, iOS, or BrightSign-based digital or IT solutions for its clients. Specifically, we are looking to partner with device manufacturers, software solution providers, value-added resellers, integrators, marketing agencies, app developers, or anyone else who provides software or digital solutions to customers for Android, iOS, and or BrightSign-specific device deployments. If you have clients who deploy devices for digital signage, kiosks, POS, or any other single-purposed specific use case, then we want to partner with you.

Why should you partner with Moki?

Mobile device management is a crucial piece of any device deployment. When you partner with Moki, you can provide a valuable solution that will allow your customers to manage their remote devices quickly and easily. Besides adding additional value to your clients, Moki's Sales and Marketing teams can provide opportunity referrals from our clients who are implementing solutions that your company provides. We hope that our partnership will add value, not only to your end-customers but to your organization as well. It is a win-win for everyone!
